Fair Value Review

This product has been subject to our product review process and signed off as representing fair value to customers.

- When carrying out our review we have assessed at a minimum;
- That the insurance product remains consistent with the needs of the identified target market;
- That the intended distribution strategy remains appropriate;
- That the remuneration does not have a negative impact on the value of the product.

When assessing value, we have considered appropriate available information including data in respect of; claims and product performance, complaints, remuneration, service levels and the outputs of monitoring checks.

Our product governance and oversight arrangements require all insurance products that we manufacture to be reviewed at least every 12 months and more frequently where the potential risk associated with the product makes it appropriate to do so. The risk rating will determine the product approval and review procedure that is followed, as well as the minimum management information collected to ensure appropriate oversight of how the product is performing.

Other information which may be relevant to distributors

The standard policy terms and conditions are often tailored by the use of endorsements which expand or restrict coverage based on the quality of the individual risk. Endorsements are clearly displayed on quote and policy documents. This is standard market practice.

We require distributors to provide additional information on remuneration or services on an annual basis. You should consider the impact of any additional remuneration and services on the value of the product, including:

- Any additional fees that you charge a customer;
- Any ancillary products sold alongside the product which may affect the product's value; or
- Any duplicate cover.

Following the UK's departure from the EU, European risks are handled by our underwriters on a secondment agreement with the UK branch of our French entity Nexus Europe Sarl.

Claims may be handled by a third-party administrator on behalf of the insurer.
